

THANK YOU FOR YOUR CONTINUED SUPPORT

Post offices are the beating heart of local communities, delivering vital services including parcel and letter collection and despatch; access to cash, essential utilities plus banking and Government services. Without the post office network, millions of people would be cut adrift from these vital services.

Postmasters are independent small business owners, often having put their life savings into their post office business. With 98%* of post offices privately owned by the postmaster.

Postmasters need your continued support, to help their businesses thrive.
